LIBRARY

This monkey is stumped on one of our trivia questions. Maybe you can help the friendly primate. Do you know who Krishna Bhanji is? If so get on the coconut wireless and invite our furry friend to The Night of All Knowledge Trivia Tournament on Wednesday, September 10, 2014 at 6:00 p.m. Monkey's that attend this event must use hair gel to look respectable.

On Thursday, September 11, 2014 at 7:00 p.m., the library will present "Full Rip 9.0: The next big earthquake in the Pacific Northwest" with Seattle Times Science Writer Sandi Doughton. Sandi will be speaking about a possible massive earthquake that could strike our region. The Cascadia subduction zone is 750 miles long, running along the Pacific Coast from Northern California to British Columbia and scientists are studying the way the earth moves in this area as well as the impact a massive quake might have. The author will also discuss practical measures we can take to prepare for a large seismic event.

CONVENTION CENTER

The convention center was host to the Multiphasic Clinic September 3, 2014, and the Seaside Wheels and Waves Car Show from September 4-7, 2014.

We are pleased to report the economic impact results for the month of Aug.
